Battistoni to bow in Beverly Hills

Italian luxury label Battistoni has chosen to make Beverly Hills the home of its first U.S. stand-alone store, which is set to open its doors on Wilshire Boulevard on March 16. The Rome-based tailored clothing label, founded in 1946, has a long history with Hollywood, having dressed Humphrey Bogart and Marlon Brando and, more recently, funnyman Will Ferrell. Previously, Barneys New York was the only place stateside to find its high-end suits, shirts, footwear and leather accessories. Battistoni, 9536 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills.
